Carmel Valley Outlook

A GIANT puffball, measuring 43 inches in circumference, was one of six found growing amid braken fern and oak trees in the garden of Mr. and Mrs. Wah Chang of Carmel Valley. Often confused with the poisonous aminitas ("the angel of death"), the puffball species (Calvatia gigantea) is an edible variety of wild mushroom. Their stark white color, immense size and unusual shape, without stems, lend an unearthly quality to these magnificent growths.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

EDITOR'S NOTE: This letter concerning the environmental impact of the proposed Laguna Robles residential development in Carmel Valley was sent by George S. Lockwood as chairman of the Upper Carmel Valley Advisory Committee to the Monterey County Planning Department on April 17, 1974. It has since been added in its entirety to the environmental impact report on the project.

Gentlemen:

The Upper Carmel Valley Advisory Committee has carefully reviewed the Environmental Impact Report for Laguna Robles, subdivision No. 575, EIR No. 74-105. We appreciate the opportunity to review this draft report, particularly since we believe it contains several major inaccuracies of fact and interpretation.

It is our opinion that this subdivision, as proposed, will have a significant and dilitarious (sic) effect on the environment. Our conclusion is based upon the following:

--It will remove 150 alive, aesthetically valuable, and environmentally important walnut trees.

--It will completely regrade and disturb a stable terrain and sub-terrain.

--It will substantially increase water runoff.

--It provides a density substantially greater than can be adapted to theis environment.

--There are other economically viable uses for this property that are less damaging and are environmentally suitable.

The removal of 150 walnut trees will be highly conspicuous form Robles Del Rio and other residential areas in Carmel Valley on higher elevations. While these walnut trees may be economically unproductive and some of them may be afflicted with disease, other adjacent developments have retained many trees from this same orchard and have showed that they can be restored to good health with adequate maintenance and water. These well established mature trees are used extensively in landscaping adjacent developments, and are an intergral part of the environment on this and adjacent parcels. We strongly disagree with the conclusion (3.8.2) that the "removal of 150 unproductive and diseased trees" is beneficial. These trees are aesthetically productive and many of them can be used beneficially in landscaping a well designed subdivision.

We believe that the effect of extensive grading has been underestimated. The subdivision, as proposed, would require the complete construction of a new topography, with the total destruction and removal of all existing vegetation. Although the original natural ground cover was removed many years ago, there is a well established ground cover of walnut trees and other plants that stablizes the terrain. In addition, such grading will completely destroy the natural topographic development that has occured in this area for many centuries by altering ground water flows and by being conspicuously different from the surrounding natural terrain. The environmental damage due to such grading will be particularly bad during the construction period and until adequate new ground cover is established with silt laden runoff waters flowing into the Carmel River during storms.

We also strongly disagree with the statement that runoff will increase only five to ten per cent. The proposed development includes substantial areas of impermiable driveways, parking areas and roofs. At present a heavy natural ground cover, in addition to the orchard trees, absorbs and controls heavy rainfall. The extensive pavements and roofs will not. It also appears to us that the size and widths of the proposed roads and parking areas as shown on the submitted plan are substantially less than will be realized after construction. While precise hydrological calculations have not been made by us, we expect that this development would provide a 100 per cent increase in runoff.

The proposed density will also materially alter the environment. The proposed density of 22 units is three times as great as is allowed under existing zoning, and in our opinion is three times as great as is environmentally desirable for this property. This development, at the proposed density, cannot possibly be integrated with the natural environment in this part of Carmel Valley as is witnessed by the extensive tree removal and grading that would be necessary for its accomodation.

In addition to these points, we would also like to comment on the statement in the report in paragraph 3.11 that, "The long term urban use will stimulate economic growth within the area and provide medium cost housing." This statement is incompatible with the rural-residential element for this area in the Carmel Valley Master Plan, and it is incompatible with the existing zoning on this and the surrounding rural-residential areas of the Upper Carmel Valley.

As for the necessity for greater density (paragraph 3.10.2), we believe that this land is economically usable in one-acre parcels as presently zoned. In a previous letter to you...we stated a number of reasons why, in our collective opinion, a rezoning to allow a higher density is undesirable for the community and is unnecessary. This parcel is economically usable at its zoned density.

With regard to the large amount of lakes included in this proposed subdivision, we question whether adequate provisions can be made for their proper maintenance. The failure of such a complex system either structurally or in a sanitary sense could have a major environmental impact and present significant health problems to the subdivision residents and others in our community.

As for the proposed re-planting, it is our observation that redwood trees are unsuitable. They simply will not grow well at this location. We also question whether there will be actually three acres of lawns as specified. The proposed plans show far less pavement than will be necessary to serve this subdivision. We would like to further emphasize that while this area may be considered "already cleared", the clearing took place many years ago. From soil stability and ground cover standpoint, the existing area is extremely stable and mature.

In summary, we believe that a significantly damaging environmental impact will occur from this development due to the removal of substantial amounts of existing and usable vegetation, the complete disturbance of a stabilized terrain, significant increase in water runoff, an incompatible density, and possibly due to failures of the proposed lake system. It is our further opinion that this land is readily salable and usableat it'spresently zoned density where there would be a significantly less environmental impact.

We would be glad to discuss this further, in greater detail, should you desire. In the interim, we request that you revise this Draft Environmental Impact Report to accurately show the extensive environmental damage that would occur to this parcel, and to our overall community, should this proposed subdivision be built as planned.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following letter was sent on May 3, 1974 to the Monterey County Board of Supervisors, with copies to the Planning Commission and the Board of Supervisors of Santa Cruz and San Luis Obispo Counties.

Gentlemen:

The Carmel Area Coalition's Board of Directors has had the opportunity to review a summary of the Tri-County Coastline Plan for the counties of Santa Cruz, Monterey, and San Luis Obispo. We feel that these counties are fortunate indeed to have had such a plan prepared to include this area at such an obvious expenditure of time, effort, and money.

As a result of our review, we feel that the Tri-County Plan is compatible with the objective of Proposition 20, and we strongly urge that the plan be further developed in conjunction with representatives from the other two counties for implementation at an early date. However, with respect to Policy Number One of the summary, we would earnestly recommend that limits must be set to the intensity of existing uses in already committed areas. Additionally, we recommend that your development committees include public representatives in the preliminary planning stages as was done during the preparation of the basic plan by Sedway-Cooke.

Schedule of public hearings

Board of Supervisors

On Tuesday, May 21, the board of Supervisors will hear an appeal filed by J. C. Chaplis from a denial by the zoning administrator of a use permit for operation of a laundromat in Carmel Valley Village. The hearing will be held at 11 a.m. in the supervisors' chambers in the county courthouse in Salinas.

Next week, on Tuesday, May 28, at 2 p.m., the board will hear an appeal from the City of Carmel seeking to reverse a recent decision of the zoning administrator approving a use permit for a 162-unit motel planned by Meharry Development Company.

An appeal filed by Robert Stevenson from the zoning administrator's decision to approve a use permit for operation of an art gallery and classes in the Valley by Stephen Skerce will be heard at 10:30 a.m. May 28.

Planning Commission

An environmental determination regarding a proposed addition to the campground facility at Riverside Park Campgrounds will be heard at 9:15 a.m. by the planning commission. Nicholas Nedelcove has requested additions which will result in a total of 55 camp and trailer sites, permission to rent individual sites for one-year periods, and a 10-year use permit.

Zoning Administrator

Thursday, May 30 the Zoning administrator will hold public hearings regarding:

--a use permit filed by Korean Buddhist Sambosa for an addition to the church to house 20 permanent residents and 10 guests; the hearing is set for 2:25 p.m.

--an environmental determination regarding professional offices and other uses of property owned by Carmel Properties Company and located between Carmel Center and Arroyo Carmel on Rio Road; this item is set for 1:40 p.m.

--use permit filed by John Pfeiffer for a temporary mobile home fronting the Hitchcock Canyon Road extension; the matter will be heard at 1:55 p.m.

--the variance request by Ronald Cloyd for a reduction in front yard setback requirements in the Los Laureles area, fronting Paso Cresta; the hearing will be at 1:30 p.m.

School Board

The Carmel Unified School District will hold a board meeting next Wednesday, May 22 at 7:30 p.m. in the Middle School Resource Center. A report on the Community Resource Center will be presented by Mrs. Peggy Johnson, and a report on the Mentally Gifted Minor program will be given by Mrs. Louise Fisher.

Town Crier

Workshop in Meridian Point Message

Meridain point message workshops will be offered each Saturday from 9-10 a.m. beginning May 18 at the home of Michael Lanese at 49 Lower Circle, Carmel Valley.

Participants will learn to generate and channel their energy flow by stimulating vital points of the body. According to Lanese, it is important to come to the morning sessions on an empty stomach, and participants are urged to bring blankets for comfortable seating. There is no charge for the course.

Following each message session, a course in macrobiotic cooking will be offered, and those who join the class will share the expenses for the lunches they prepare.

For further information, call 659-4417.

Native Plant Society

The Monterey Bay Chapter of the California Native Plant Society will hold its last regular meeting of the spring season on Tuesday, May 21, at 8 p.m. in Room 2, Carmel High School.

Ed McClellan, a flower photographer and bulb fancier from Burlingame, will present a slide program on the California lily family. In addition to the slide presentation, there will be opportunity for questions on how to grow native bulbs. Visitors are welcome at these informal meetings.

Open discussions on "Community Friends"

The public is invited to hear a discussion of "Community Friends," a community service organization for persons who have been residents of mental hospitals and have returned to live in Monterey County. The gathering will be at the Outrigger on May 24 at 6:30 p.m.

Madeline Berkenpas of Sacramento, who has worked extensively with the program state-wide, will be the guest speaker at the annual meeting of Monterey County Association for Mental Health. She will explain the function of the program, its structure and usefulness in the community.

During the evening new officers of the association will be elected as will new board members. The slate to be presented includes Emile Serres of Salinas, president; Mrs. John Gamble of Carmel, vice-president; Mrs. Dorothy Messner of Pacific Grove, treasurer; Heloise Dales of Salinas, secretary.

Board members to be nominated, representing the various areas of the county, are: Margaret Mule, Sylvia Chase, Maurice Rosen, Ceil Flickinger, Rusty Stratoon, Mary White, Maureen Bradford, Muriel Brady, Patricia Work, Rosemary George, Marion Serres, Gloria Wheeler, Lorraine Luker and Shelley Schacter.

Nominations will also be open during the evening. Reservations may be obtained by calling 373-6363 or 375-4044 during the evening.

Benefit reception honoring Veneman

John G. Veneman, Republican candidate for Lt. Governor of California, will spend Wednesday, May 15, campaigning on the Monterey Peninsula.

A reception welcoming John G. Veneman, Republican candidate for Lt. Governor, will be held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Shoemake, Alvarado and Seventeen Mile Drive, Pebble Beach.

Sponsors for the Veneman reception are: Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Brown, Mrs. Carl Christierson, Mrs. Hartley C. Dewey, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Heid Jr., Mrs. Lawson Little Jr., and Frank Murphy. Chairman of the event is Mrs. William A. Sanford.

The fund-raising reception will be from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m., A charge of $12.50 per person or $25 per couple will be made. For reservations, please call 624-2654. 624-1924 or 624-1680.

Hatton Canyon freeway construction set for 1983

A total of $52 million (in 1972-73 dollars), representing roughly one-third of the funds required to fianance all critical needs within the area, will be available to Monterey and San Benito Counties for highway repairs and construction during the next 20 years, the board of supervisors was told last week. Construction of the proposed Hatton Canyon freeway appears slated for commencement in 1983. The projections came as part of a presentation by E.H. Gregory, district director of state transportation, of a 20-year program guide outlining how limited state funds could most effectively be used in developing a highway system. Severe budgetary constraints caused by rapidly increasing construction costs and drastic cuts in federal funding due to a drop in highway taxes collected, have resulted in slashed highway allotments that may hurt the state.

Within Monterey County, top priority would go to correction of slipouts at Bixby Creek, for which $430,000 (1972-73 dollars) has been allotted. Second priority would go to construction of the Hatton Canyon freeway, for which $6.6 million has been designated. Despite the high position accorded to the freeway project, roadwork would not begin for another eight years, Gregory and his assistant, Ralph Lejonhud, indicated.

Of the $52 million which will be available to Monterey and San Benito Counties, only $23.8 million is to be used for new construction, according to the program guide. The major portion of the funds "will be required for resurfacing work and investment in the existing facilities, and to provide a satisfactory surface for highway traffic," the report specified.

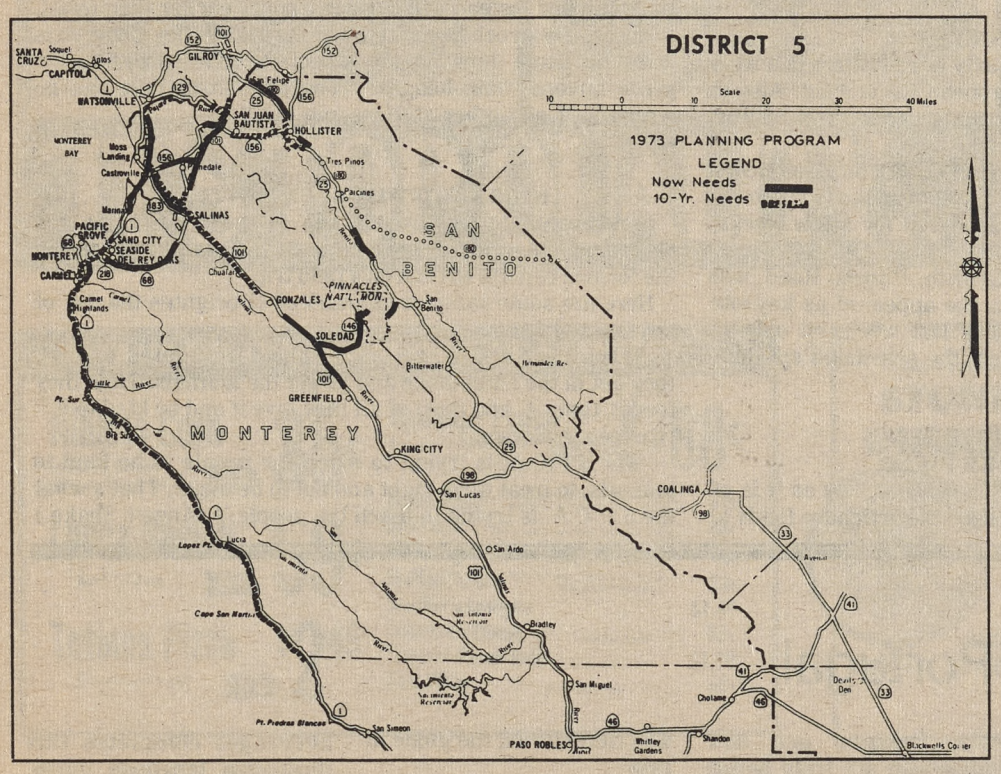
Funding projections indicated that roughly $28 million would be available for highway projects within the eight-year period from 1975 to 1983, with an additional $24 million available in the following 12-year period from 1983 to 1995. Therefore, approximately $134 million worth of work included in the 1973 planning program would not be financed in the next 20-year period unless other sources were found.

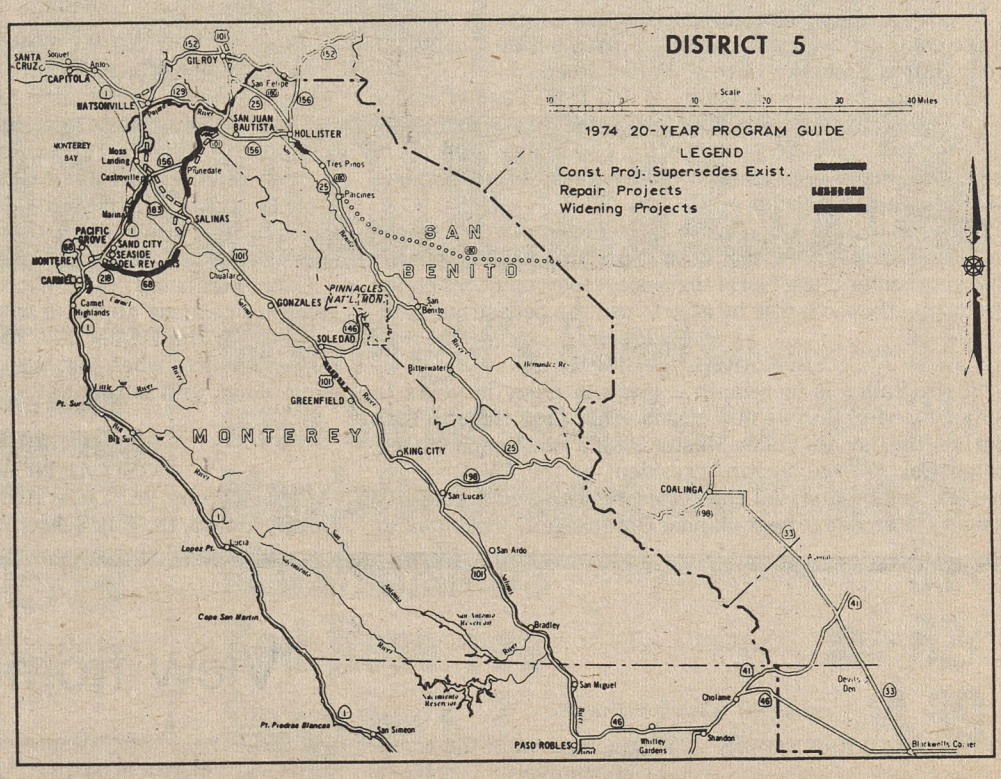
The $52 million funding represents a severe cutback from the $186 million allocation for county highways projected in the 1973 Monterey County Planning Program. Throughout the state, approximately two-thirds of previously planned construction will have to be eliminated, according to the new guide.

Responding to the dismal picture outlined for the county by Gregory, Supervisor Willard Branson stated, "Eight years from now will be too late for the construction of the Hatton Canyon freeway; we have a real problem today."

Branson asked Gregory about the possibility of widening Highway 1. Such an undertaking would be possible, Gregory indicated, if the county would be willing to work jointly with the state. In any case, construction could not begin for three years. The state would be willing to consider rescinding its agreement to build Hatton Canyon, but such decision would have to come from the state highway commission, which will meet in June, rather than from the community, Gregory stated. If a rescision was granted, the right of way would be sold to the highest bidder, he added.

In an attempt to explore ways of advancing the date of commencement of the Hatton Canyon freeway construction, Branson questioned whether the county and state could work together on the building of the highway. Gregory agreed to investigate the possibility and report back to the board of supervisors.





THE NEW 20-year Program Guide provides for $52 million of funds for road repair and highway construction in Monterey and San Benito Counties. This figure represents a major cutback from the $186 million allotted in the 1973 Planning Program. At left, the 1973 Planning Program map shows those projects needed immediately and those which will become necessary within the next 10 years. At right, the 20-year Program Guide map indicates priority status for construction of the Hatton Canyon freeway, and for work on Route 68 between Salinas and Monterey.

Alternative High School demands independent work

By LLOYD DANIEL

After four years of talking, organizing, failing and then trying again, the Alternative High School finally has become a reality. The Carmel Unified School District Board of trustees approved the A.H.S. (Alternative High School) on Feb. 13. A month later, the school began operation.

The 30-pupil school meets at Carmel High School every weekday afternoon from 1:40 p.m. to 4 p.m. Room 18, is the home of the Alternative High School. The exotic room is adorned with outlandish learning devices. These devices include a brain control console, a makeshift earthquake research center, and finally the most practical item of all, the activity bulletin board.

An alternative to education was necessary due to student dissatisfaction with the Carmel High School curriculum. Students wanted to go beyond classes offered there, and they did.

Through the bulletin board, students schedule guest speakers, educational movies, lectures, excursions and even offer to share their books and typewriters.

As an example of going beyond the classes, Ken Pinkerton, an A.H.S. student, studied Superior Court trial for three days. He talked to judges and generally learned how the courts were run.

Another example is Chris Allen, who went to Washington D.C. with Congressman Pete McCloskey. They visited the Senate, House of Representatives and the Library of Congress.

The A.H.S. students work under a contract system. Each student works out an outline of what he wants to do and how he's going to do it. The students then sits down with Ralf Kahl, the teacher for the A.H.S. and the Carmel High School vice-principal, Jim Watkins, to discuss the possible subject credits which could be given for the project. At the conclusion of each project, an oral or written report must be presented to the class. In essence, students are teaching students.

Pearl Harbor conditions, hymenoptery, weather stations, surveying, The Vietnam War, Indian lore and gardening are just a few of the many topics selected for contracts.

Aside from the contracts, all types of diversified subjects are studied during class time. "Today we have marijuana," stated Kahl. The class cheered. "A big film," continued Kahl with a smile. The class groaned.

Rope splicing, soldering, tool sharpening, astronomy, blacksmithing, laboratory glass technology and even the dissection of a pregnant deer are just a few of the many class activities.

As a possible deterrent to failure, a student could be returned to full time at Carmel High School if he failed in the A.H.S.

The A.H.S. students who do not take the standard Carmel high school physical education are required to keep track of their own physical credit. Therefore, 40 minutes a day are spent riding bikes, swimming, hiking, horseback riding or just about anything that induces sweat.

Occassionally, the A.H.S. indulges in group phys. ed. Rock climbing, tug of war, or playing tag are some of these group activities. A lot of the kids that participate don't receive any credit but play and have fun anyway.

Next year, the A.H.S. could run from 9 a.m. to 3:25 p.m. Room 15 could be their new home and there could be an additional A.H.S. teacher. However, all decisions concerning the A.H.S. must be approved by the school board.

The maximum possible credits per semester is 15. Conceivably, next year it will be possible for a A.H.S. student to earn up to 30 credits per semester.

There is a slight concern with the freedom given to the A.H.S. student. Even though they are required to take two courses from Carmel High School, they can sign out of the A.H.S. class period any time they want to work on their projects.

It takes a special kind of student to succeed in the A.H.S. The student has to be able to do independant work and must really want to learn. He can't just sit in a class room and "fake it" for a grade; for most students there are no grades.

The A.H.S. is scheduled full time for next year. But the future of the school, rests upon the shoulders of its pupils.

BEFORE WOMEN'S LIB

Sirs, the ladies have invaded the last domain of us men, and The Little League of Carmel Valley has the distinction of being the first to fall by the wayside. Gentlemen, revolt! We have a WOMAN COACH. Do you feel badly about this? Frankly, it's unnerving. Fortunately, since the lady in question is a very lovely person both personally and physically, the game of baseball is still a fine spectator sport.

Let me introduce you to Mrs. Mary Ferris. Blonde, blue-eyed and petite. Her team is the local Farm Team, the Seals. Their first game, played last week, was lost by the tight score of 7-8.

GRANITE BEGINS JR. HIGH PATH

Monday morning, Granite Construction Company, as a gift to the community, began grading a path beside Highway 1 from Hatton Fields to Carmel Valley Road.

Soon students can walk safely to and from Carmel Junior High School from Hatton Fields, Carmel Hills and South Carmel Hills. Since the opening of the junior high, students in these areas have been transported by school buses because no safe footpath existed.

The path will be a boon also to residents of subdivisions near the Valley entrance. Instead of walking to and from the shopping center along two of the busiest thoroughfares on the Peninsula, they will now be able to use the pedestrian path.

VIEW AREA PLAN NOW

"If the Valley is to remain a place to enjoy in years to come, it is vital that we now consider the Area General Plan and how the Carmel Valley Master Plan would tie in with it," stated Col. George Brown, president of the CV Property Owners Association. All interested residents and property owners are invited to hear planner Gordon Hall, consultant to the Area Planning Commission, present the proposed Area General Plan at Tularcitos School next Wednesday.

Of five parks proposed by the Monterey Peninsula Area General Plan, two would be located in Carmel Vallely.

UNUSUAL WEED SHOW PLANNED

It's seasonal and very unusual, and it's called a "Weed Show."

With the naming of the Pilot Road area "Plaza de Flores" the residents on the street are turning it into an art gallery over Memorial Day weekend and having a weed show.

A weed drawing and painting contest open to children and adults will be held this month in conjunction with the Weed Show.

FROM 'TOWN CRIER'

On the scene: Kim Novak and party were visitors last week when they dined at the Little European Restaurant. Also on the Valley scene were the Herb Caens, observed playing tennis at Gardiner's Tennis Ranch.

Otter watchers: in Pacific Grove off the 700 block on Ocean View Blvd., visitors had watched a frequent shore visitor to the area. But lately she had disappeared for a few weeks, only to return with twin babies.

Extemporaneous: Mrs. Winn Griffith, Rancho Road, was given tremendous applause when she appeared as keynote speaker for the Democratic caucus last week, on only 15 minutes notice, when her husband, the scheduled speaker, came down with laryngitis.

BAY SCHOOL CHILDREN VISIT ARTICHOKE FIELD

Classes from the "Little Red Schoolhouse," or as it is officially known, the Bay School, visited the artichoke fields at Odello Ranch on Highway 1 recently.

The children were conducted on the tour by Mrs. Efraim (Rosa) Doner, director of Bay School which is part of the Carmel Unified School District.

VALLEY STATIONS LIMIT HOURS, NOT GAS

Several Carmel Valley gas stations are turning to shorter hours, rather than limits on gallons purchased, to work within quotas established by the major oil companies.

Richard Moore, owner of the Carmel Valley Arco station in the Mid-Valley Shopping Center, briefly tried limiting customers to 12 gallons only last week.

But when no other station followed suit, Moore dropped that plan and instead will close two hours earlier than usual.

Across the street, Tom Steiny at the Mid-Valley Chevron is doing the same thing. Steiny expects to have enough gas to serve anyone, then hedges: "The only thing that can go wrong is if any other stations run out."

KIDS KNOW WHY SPCA MATTERS

A postscript to last week's trip to the S.P.C.A. by the classes at Tularcitos School came in the mail yesterday in the form of reports written on a field trip.

Here are some samples guaranteed to brighten the day of any animal lover:

"When the S.P.C.A. get a call about an injured animal, they get in the ambulance and go get the animals. Then they feed it, tame it, and most of all they love it and be kind to it." (Rodney Anderson.)

"The S.P.C.A. is trying to teach the people to be kind to animals, to treat them right and not to be mean. That's what the S.P.C.A. is trying to teach the people." (Angelo Shake.)

By DONALD REYNOLDS

Recognizing that Portuguese is a difficult and not widely used language, the Hotel Do Mar in Sesimbra has perfected a cash register that among national inventions must take its place alongside the compass improvements perfected by King Henry, the navigator, 400 years ago.

inflationary trends that plague the rest of the world.

Unfortunately, problems with the African colonies may upset the apple cart, although the very term "colony" is a misnomer according to most Portuguese. Angola, the last problem child of an empire that 400 years ago dominated five continents, is a nagging difficulty that refuses to go away.

As one Portuguese politician has it: "Abandoning Mocambique weakens the mother country without strengthening the African offspring. When your President Roosevelt completed his program of dismembering the British Empire its questionable that India, Pakistan and now Bangladash are truly better off--and once world-ruling Great Britian is now a pitied mendicant rather than a respected power."

Historyhas not been good to Portugal. In the 15th Century, Portuguese established contacts with Africa's West Coast, India, Brazil, Greenland, California, Alaska, China and Japan. It was a Portuguese, Magellan, who first circled the globe in 1520.

There was a gradual but steady decline in world influence until 1932 when Antonio Salazar, a professor of political economy, took over as prime minister and controlled the country until he died in 1968. The melancholy strain is perhaps best depicted in their typical "fados." Like our country-western music, these folk songs tell of the tragedy or unrequited love and the ironies of destiny. The word "fado" means fate in Portuguese.

But all 7 million Portuguese are not sunk in deepest gloom. They are pleasant and hospitable. The food is good, the hotels excellent, and transportation is difficult, but not impossible.

Each item on the bill is listed separately alongside an identifying symbol. A plate, fork and knife indicates the convert charge, a soup bowl with ladle the soup course. An unmistakable drawing of a fish, a chicken illustration for the meat course, cheese and apple for dessert, a bottle for wine, a cocktail glass for bar charges and a coffee cup for beverages completes this illustrated language guide. There is even an asterisk to cover diversifications.

Portugal entered the battle for tourists rather late in the game, but is catching up rapidly. Luxury hotels that are less than five years old surpass anything in Italy, Switzerland, Austria or other better known tourist destinations. A hard currency that takes its place alongside the West German mark as the most stable in Europe competes with the Swiss franc in establishing fixed prices. And a conservative government far to the right of a John Bircher has at least slowed down the

UNDER THE OAKS & AMONG THE CACTI

By Mildred Hattan

FATHER DOUGLAS Keating congratulates Valleyites Mr. and Mrs. Francis Rank of Laurel Drive on their golden wedding anniversary following a late April Mass at Our Lady of Mount Carmel.

Happy anniversary to the Ranks

The year was 1924; the city was Chicago; the bride and groom were Clara and Francis Rank. The wedding vows exchanged 50 golden years ago were recently renewed during a mass at Our Lady of Mount Carmel offered by the Rev. Douglas Keating.

Many local friends of the Laurel Drive couple attended the mass and reception which followed in their honor in the parish hall. Guests coming from afar included: Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Muehring, Crete, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Alan Kosalko, Pensacola, Fla.; Dr. and Mrs. Paul Jacquin, San Diego; Mr. and Mrs. Chris Tinios, Carmichael; Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Zogopoulas, Sacramento; Mr. and Mrs. John Lundberg, Santa Clara; Mr. Robert Bowen, Orinda; and many friends from Salinas, Pacific Grove, Monterey and Carmel.

Former Valleyites return to visit

The timing was ideal for Gloria and Gordon Yates, who, on an all too brief visit to Carmel Valley, were able to find many of their old friends at the Tularcitos Carnival last Saturday.

The former residents of El Caminito, now residents of Baltimore, Maryland, are spending a week in San Francisco where Gordon, an executive with McCormick Schillings, is attending a seminar.

Champagne Auction Saturday

The question most frequently asked of Carmel Valley Community Center Board members when they request contributions of auction items or $3 ticket donations for the "Champagne Silent Auction" on Saturday night is, "Why does the center always need money?"

Built and funded largely by donations, the center is a non-profit organization, recognized by both state and federal governments as a charitable organization entirely dependent for maintainence and operating expenses on donations and fund-raising events such as the annual "Champagne Silent Auction."

The balance sheet for the Carmel Valley Community Youth Center from January 1973 to December 31, 1973 goes something like this:

Income

Individual donations	$50.00
Valley organization donations	100.00
Swimming pool	2116.85
Building rental	749.50
Special events
Champagne Silent Auction	(net) 1,538.66
Flea market	(net deficit) 11.10
Halloween parade	(net)103.38
Spook house	(net) 34.67
Santa Fly-in	(net) 93.41
Total	$4,775.37

Expenditures

Office supplies	$24.88
Maintenance	719.06
Mortgage	2076.00
Insurance	421.00
Taxes	206.44
Custodian	900.00
Utilities	479.79
Total	$4,827.17

The preceding numerical picture, friends and neighbors, is why the CVCYC always needs funds. The board of directors, charged with the operational, social and fund-raising functions of the center sincerely request the honor of your presence at the Saturday night fun fund-raising benefit for the center.

Hidden Valley (formerly White Oaks) is "where the auction is" from 7 p.m. until 10 p.m. Champagne and hors d'oeuvres will be served. Tickets, at $3 each, are available at the door or from any board member.

The items on which guests may bid range from dinners to clothing, to paintings, trips, antiques and even a baby grand piano. It promises to be a gala affair. Do plan to attend this Saturday at Hidden Valley, 7-10 p.m.

Trail & Saddle Club party

Furniture will be "in the cards" for the Carmel Valley Trail & Saddle Club for those aho attend and support the fund-raising card party on Sunday, May 19, in the club house on East Garzas Road.

Play will begin at 1 p.m. with Donna Pack as game director for bridge duplicate and rubber (open and novice sections), with games of canasta featured, too.

Dessert, awards, door prizes and an afternoon of fun is promised. Players may bring their own partners or may be matched at the party. Donations are $2 per person. Please phone reservations to: Lura Mae Sherman, 659-4474; Ruth Angell, 659-4124; Natalie Eberly, 659-2714; or Joan Bennett (who is in charge of the floral decorations), 659-2472.

First communion celebrated

Children instructed by Mrs. W.G.B. Hatch received their first communion recently at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Catholic Church. Under the direction of Mrs. William Brodrick, the class sang "Shout Out For Joy." Two of the children, Dryw Thompson and Heidi Schaur brought the offering during mass.

A reception for family and friends followed in the parish hall under the chairmanship of Mrs. William Brashears, assisted by Mrs. William Meyers, Mrs. Jerry Dalton, and Mrs. George Grove. The beautifully decorated cake, inscribed "First Communion" and topped with a chalice, was cut by Jamie Colburn and David Schaur.

Receiving Communion were: Matthew Vincent Belleci, Jamie Lee Colburn, Troy Douglas Curran, Robert Dean Diaz, Kevin Patrick Hare, Crystal Hill, Tracy Parks, Tanya Gail Radowiez, David John Schauer, Heidi Jane Schauer, Stacie Stainbrook, and Dryw Eric Thompson.

Open burning discontinued

Open burning, on the ground and with a permit, ended Wednesday, May 15 at 5 p.m. for residents of the Carmel Valley Fire Protective District according to Fire Chief "Chip" Collins.

Incinerator burning, with a permit, will continue until noon each day through June 30. After July 1, there will be no further incinerator burning in the county following the recent ruling by the Pollution Board.

Open burning, weather permitting, will resume again on December 1 and remain in effect in the CVFPD through March 31.

Residents are reminded that permits are required for all other outside fires, including barbecues and tiki torches. Permits are available at the Fire House on Via Contenta from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day.

Doberman Pinscher Specialty Show

Entries totaling 200 dogs in 230 events, the largest in the history of the annual Doberman Pinscher Specialty Show will be judged on Saturday, May 25, at the Carmel Valley Inn.

The Cabrillo Doberman Pinscher Club invites the public, admission free, to view representatives of the handsome breed from Oregon, Washington, Nevada, Arizona, as well as many of the top obedience dogs from California.

Judging confirmation with 166 entries will be Dr. Wilfrid Shut, who is returning to the Valley show for the third time from his home in Port Credit, Ontario, Canada. Dr. Shut, a frequent guest on the Merv Griffith television show, is an enthusiastic booster of Vitamin E and the author of "Vitamin E for Ailing and Healthy Hearts."

Dr. Gerald Orth of North Hollywood, Calif. will judge the 66 entries in the obedience class for utility, Novice "A" and Open "A" sections. The second judge, Sam Kodis of Watsonville, will judge Novice "B" and Open "B."

Events will get underway at 9 a.m. Spectators are requested not to bring dogs other than bonafide entries to the show area.

Illia Bean and Locksin Thompson wed

Illia Bean and Locksin Thompson of Carmel Valley were joined in marriage last Sunday at the Sudub House. Bill Kelly officiated at the outdoor ceremony, which began at 11 a.m.

Illia is director-teacher at the Carmel Valley Parent Cooperative Nursury School, and Locksin is foreman of the labor crew at Stone, Post & Flower in Carmel Valley.

The bride and groom were escorted down the aisle by their respective mothers, Mrs. Olga Warmbrunn and Mrs. Theta Logan in honor of Mother's Day, and were attended by Illia's son, Hamid, and daughters Malina and Irene.

The entire 35-member Carmel Valley Subud group gave the bride and groom to each other in marriage and sang "Bright Morning Star" as a processional hymn in lieu of piano accompaniment.

The bride wore an off-white A-line dress with delicate open crochet work at the sleeve and a hand-embroidered bodice. A wreath of eyelet and flowers adorned her hair. The groom and Illia's son both wore white slacks and matching shirts.

More than 350 guests shared in the joy of the newly united couple, who plan to remain in the Valley.

ILLIA'S daughters Irene and Malina, dressed in brightly colored spring gowns, attended the bride and groom.

LOCKSIN Thompson and Illia Bean shared the joy of their marriage last Sunday with hundreds of friends from Carmel Valley and elsewhere. The jubilance of the outdoor celebration at Subud House was heightened by bright skies and warm weather.

Organic gardener

By LEE HALL

Now is the time to thin fruit and nut trees. Peaches should be thinned so that the little peaches are four inches apart. If the trees have peach leaf curl, which is prevalent this year, the peaches should be thinned to six inches apart because the curled leaves will not be able to support a normal crop of peaches.

The reason that there is so much peach leaf curl is because the late rains washed off the dormant spray, and the buds prevented spraying after the last rain. If you have peach leaf curl (reddish, wrinkled leaves) for the first time, you can expect that the leaves will fall off, but new, smaller leaves will come out later in the spring. The total yield will be down.

Many apples form in clumps of four or five. Some are formed now. They should be thinned so that only the biggest one remains from the clump. Apples should be thinned to be at least six inches apart when formed as singles (not in clumps).

Apricots should be thinned to two inches apart for the regular varieties and three to four inches between fruits for the large varieties.

Citrus trees usually do not need thinning; they tend to drop blossoms when sufficient fruit has set.

In all the fruit trees, if specimen fruits are derived they can be thinned much more. This will leave less total weight of fruit but will give larger individual fruits.

Almond trees should be thinned sparingly, flicking off the undersized almonds only. Almonds bear so heavily in this area that some of the branches might have to be propped up to prevent them from breaking off. Almonds are the first fruit or nut tree to flower. In many areas the almonds should be large enough for thinning now.

Almonds also have what is called a "June drop." If they are not thinned now, they will thin themselves in June.

Walnuts usually are not thinned, but as with almonds, they sometimes require cross bracing or propping of the branches to prevent breaking from the pull of heavy nut loads.

This year my walnuts put out the catkins (male flowers that looks like fuzzy caterpillars) early, and they all dropped off before the female flowers (very small 3/8 inch flowers with three petals arranged like a fleur de lis). Catkins from a neighbor's tree were gathered, put into a loose-knit sack, and put up-wind on my trees. As the female flowers came out on my trees, the sacks were hit with a stick daily so the wind could carry the pollen to the female flowers.

It worked fine; little walnuts the size of peas are already forming. Even catkins from black walnut trees will work without resulting in black walnuts being formed.

Walnuts in the floor of the valley are about a month behind those on south slopes; so if catkins come and go too early, this solution can still be tried by those who have late trees.

All of the above mentioned trees are grown at my place, and the only fertilizers used on any of them have been horse manure and wood ashes. Only aged manure is used on the apple trees since they seem to be sensitive to fresh manure. All bear consistently and well except one apple tree that has been shaded out by an oak tree.

The dormant season, winter, is the best time to prune fruit and nut trees, but a light pruning should be done now. Small branches that are headed towards the center of the tree or are growing into another branch, as well as water sprouts (long green, rapid growing shoots) should be pruned out. Pruned out material, as well as litter and weeds beneath the tree, should be removed to the compost pile to prevent insects from using the material as a home from which to attack the tree.

A reminder on how to make 14 day compost:

Ingredients

One-third manure or kitchen scraps
One-third leaves
One-third weeds

Procedure

Chop the above ingredients with a grinder or lawn mower, then moisten to the dampness of a squeezed out sponge. Form a pile, a minimum of 3 x 3 x 3 feet. The pile should become very hot, actually steaming inside within 24 hours.

Turn the pile after three, six and ten days. The compost will be ready to use as soon as it cools, which takes about 14 days. If it doesn't heat up, it needs more manure, kitchen scraps or blood meal.

Carpet show, until the last bite of chicken disappeared at the dinner, wasn't it a fun-filled, successful affair?

An "old oak leaf cluster" to Lyde and Lee Mink, who directed the masterful production of the 1974 Tularcitos Carnival, skillfully planned to entertain infants through the golden years at the Parent Club sponsored event held last Saturday.

Don Monaghan of Ford Road claimed that smashing door prize, the 90-second shopping spree at the Village Market, with Jane Wilsey winning the coveted booty from the Golden Crucible, a ring of gold and pearls.

The Carmel Valley Kiwanis Club members and their wives provided a delicious potluck luncheon as a thank you from the Valley to the Fort Ord Band; Larry Busick in his purple long johns and 10-gallon black hat provided a million laughs at the dunking machine; and the pie eating contestants exhibited rare form.

It was a major project with the numerous man hours of work involved very much in evidence. Congratulations!

Fall fiesta rumored

While winging over Plaza Linda last Thursday, the "Phantom Oak Moth" picked up exciting vibrations, recircled Del Fino place and learned that the Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce has plans underway for a Fiesta in the Valley in September. All clubs, schools, churches and individuals are invited to begin making plans now for money-making schemes. Take those Spanish costumes out of moth balls, and invite friends and relatives to enjoy a day of "fun in the sun" in Carmel Valley!

Herbert Brooks

Sad news from the Islands, where friends learned of the death of former Valleyite, Herbert Brooks at age 73. Herb and his wife, Ollie, have been residents of Kihei, Maui for many years, where they have been involved in real estate.

The popular couple were owner-managers of Los Laureles Lodge during the 1950's. Their warm hospitality and enthusiasm made the lodge a center of Valley social functions.

A native of Vienna, Herb had been a member of the Austrian International ice hockey team and associated with banking before moving to Canada. He and Ollie were married in Berlin in 1934.

Funeral services were held dockside at Maaleaea Harbor with private services at sea.

The textbook dilemma

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article, written by Orville Rogers, curriculum coordinator of the Carmel Unified School District, is the first in a series focussing on current developments and changes affecting school programs and administration in this area. Future articles, written by board members, teachers, parents and students, will include an explanation of the local impact of the Supreme Court's recent decision ordering equalization of school district spending, the parent volunteerism program and the Alternative High School.

By ORVILLE ROGERS

Carmel Unified School District has just finished one day of inservice training for teachers and will be planning more in the near future. While inservice training for teachers has been an ongoing process, the session held last week was rather urgent because of a new state system for adoption of elementary textbooks.

Until the passage of the Ryan Act (AB531) in 1972, the distribution of textbooks in grades K-8 throughout the state was relatively simple, but limited, and very unpopular. Prior to that time, school districts were given the choice of two textbooks and in many cases limited to one basic book per child. All texts were printed by the state printing office and allotted to schools on an average daily attendence basis in each of the disciplines. Because of the limited choice, few teachers and administrators were happy with the system, and thousands of textbooks were left to collect dust on the shelves.

The Ryan Act makes available, through the state adoption system, not only a greater selection of textbooks, laboratory manuals, teacher guides, and supplementary reading materials, but also audio-visual and manipulative devices, including many types of kits. The adoption list is to be updated every other year, and districts may continue to use materials for as long as five years. Under the old system texts were adopted for seven years, and in areas such as social science and math, were simply out of date by the seventh year.

Basically, the new system goes to great lengths to provide what educators have long been seeking -- a system by which school districts can use state funds to obtain the materials they need, when they need them, and in the quantities needed without being required to use materials for which they have no use. With this latitude of choice goes responsibility on the part of principals and teachers, because a haphazard selection of materials or texts will result in a haphazard, uncoordinated instructional program.

Recognition of this responsibility was the key reason for our inservice day and will be for future meetings. The cycle of adoption this year calls for selection of materials in reading and literature, English spelling, and foreign language. With a state allotment of approximately $5 per student in grades K-8, we are to order from an adopted list, called a matrix, of 135 systems or sets of materials in reading alone. In addition, there are 30 or so choices in English and literature, plus some options in spelling, and this order to be in to the state department by October, 1974.

Obviously, to acquaint teachers with all of these options is a monumental task. We have received help from the Monterey County Office of Education, which set up a series of reviewing sessions begun last January, in which teachers could obtain credit for reviewing and critiquing the many programs up for adoption. A number of our teachers participated in this process and acted as leaders in our recent all-day inservice program. We are also very fortunate to have the help of Dr. Jo Brazell, who has done extensive study and work in the reading area statewide and nationally.

To complicate matters, last year we adopted a new science program called Elementary Science Studies (E.S.S.), a non-textbook, process oriented, science program that involves a great deal of manipulative materials. Since we will receive this equipment this fall, it was necessary to plan some workshops to acquaint teachers with these new materials. The afternoon of our recent inservice day was directed to this task with two teacher consultants reviewing the program in the K-3 and 4-6 grade areas. Two more sessions for this phase of the adoption cycle are planned for early fall.

Next year it will be mathematics and social studies, as on and on the little ball goes!

Scholarship awarded to Valley 4-H'er

Linda Wilson of Carmel Valley, a member of the local 4-H Club, has been awarded a $200 scholarship by Safeway Stores, Incorporated.

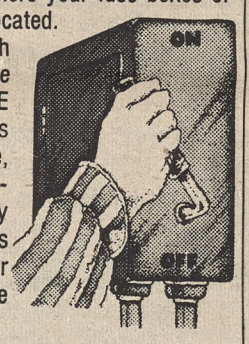
The Scholarship is one of two awarded each year by the food firm to exhibitors at the Junior Grand National Livestock Exposition held in San Francisco. The second scholarship, also for $200 was awarded to Steven Carl Dorrance of Salinas.

Linda Wilson was selected by a 4-H committee to receive the scholarship on the basis of her scholastic record, citizenship and showmanship at the Junior Grand National. She is the daughter of Mrs. and Mrs. Robert Wilson of Carmel Valley, and the second of four children, all of who are active in 4-H.

Put these tips and some spare fuses near your fuse box.

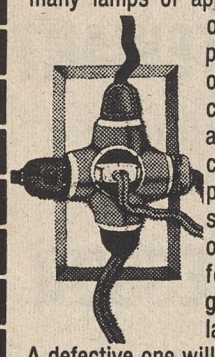
With a flashlight, they may help should your lights go out.

Be Prepared. Know where your fuse boxes or circuit breakers are located. Locate the main switch box—usually near the spot where the PG&E electric service wires connect to your house, or near your PG&E electric meter. Locate any additional box or boxes—usually in a closet or utility room. Keep spare fuses handy.

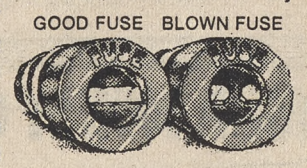


Check the Neighbors. If your lights should go out, check to see if other homes in your neighborhood have lights. If the power is off in your home only, you may have a blown fuse or tripped circuit breaker.

Determine the Cause. Blown fuses or tripped circuit breakers are often caused by having too many lamps or appliances connected to one outlet or circuit. Another possibility is a defective cord on a lamp or appliance. To check, unplug all lamps or appliances on the affected circuit, looking for defective plugs or cords while doing so. Replace the blown fuse or re-set the tripped circuit, following the procedures given below. Then plug each lamp or appliance back in. A defective one will cause the fuse to blow, or circuit breaker to trip, again.



To Replace a Fuse. First turn the main switch to "OFF." Make sure that your hands are dry and that you are standing on a dry surface. Look for the "blown" fuse; the "window" may be blackened, or there may be a visible gap in the fuse element. Replace the blown fuse with one of the proper amperage rating, usually one of not more than 15-20 amps. (Your electrician can tell you.) Never use a penny or other metal object to "bridge" the blown fuse, as this could cause a house fire. Turn the main switch to "ON." If only part of the lights in the house come on, this may indicate that a fuse in a secondary fuse box has also blown. Check these fuses in the same way you checked the fuses at the main switch. Be sure the main switch is "OFF" while you are changing fuses.



Cartridge Fuses. You won't be able to visually tell exactly which cartridge fuse is blown. In this case, test by replacing each fuse with a new one until you find the blown fuse. A tripped circuit breaker will probably be out of the "ON" position.

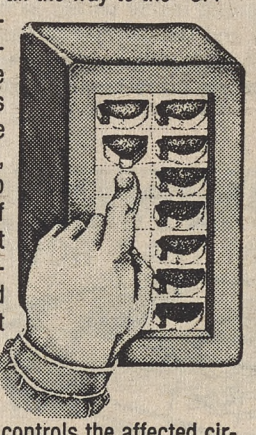
To Reset a Circuit Breaker. Move the affected circuit breaker handle all the way to the "OFF" position (for some circuit breakers, a moderate pressure in the "OFF" direction is necessary to cause them to reset). Then, move the handle to the "ON" position. If the affected circuit breaker does not indicate that it has tripped (its handle has not moved from the "ON" position), and you do not know which circuit breaker controls the affected circuit, try resetting all circuit breakers.



Some Added Safety Tips. Never plug in radios near bathtubs or basins. Never wash coffee pots or frying pans while they are still plugged in. Make sure that electric tools are properly grounded (with a 3-prong plug), or are of the U.L. approved "double-insulated" type. When you unplug an appliance, pull the plug—not the cord.

Still in the Dark? If you've followed all of these procedures and you're still in the dark, don't hesitate to call PG&E. We'll be happy to help.

'The Lonely Piano' musical recital

"The Lonely Piano," a musical recital featuring 20 local vocalists and pianists under the direction of Gina Welsh, will be performed Wednesday, May at 5 p.m. at the White Oaks Theater in Hidden Valley.

"What's different about this recital is that it has a story behind it," explains Mrs. Welsh. The fairytale concerns a lonely piano which lives in the woods and is played only by the wind, rain and moonlight.

Among the student performers, who range in age from five years and up, is Leslie Johnson, 16, of Carmel Valley, who will sing modern and folk songs and will also play the piano. Director Gina Welsh will sing a selection including Italian opera and modern songs by such contemporaries as Paul Simon and Cat Stevens.

The late afternoon program will provide musical entertainment from the classical through the modern period, and students rrom beginner to advanced levels will share their skills. Admission is $1 per ticket for adults and 50 cents for children. Tickets can be obtained at the door fifteen minutes before the performance.

Entertainment

Unusual double billing at Tantamount

"Only One New York" shares billing Friday and Saturday nights this weekend at the Tantamount with "White Mane," with showings at 8:40 p.m.

"Only One New York" was filmed by Pierre Dominique Gaisseau ("The Sky Above-The Mud Below") over a seven month period in New York City. The French film-maker focused his hand-held cameras on facets of the city even native New Yorkers rarely see, the traditions and customs of ethnic groups: a New Year celebration in Chinatown, a ritual bath of purification performed by Hasidic Jews, a wedding party of a band of gypsies, and a Ukranian wedding.

Judith Crist wrote: "The kind of love poem only a non-New Yorker could have composed, a beautiful fresh-eyed movie that only a master could have made."

The second picture on the program is "The White Mane" by Albert Lamorrisse, the creator of "The Red Balloon." An international prize winner, it tells the story of a wild white stallion living in freedom, of the men who would capture it and break its spirit, and of the boy who ultimately tames him with love.

Choral performance at All Saints Church

The Orange Coast College Chorale and Chamber Singers will appear in concert at All Saints Church in Carmel on Thursday, May 23 at 8 p.m.

Journeying from Costa Mesa on an annual spring tour, the Chorale group is comprised of some 70 singers, who have been selected on the basis of musical audition. Music majors constitute approximatelv one-half of the group, with the remainder representing many other academic disciplines and occupational areas.

From the membership of the touring choir are chose singers of the highly selective Chamber Singers, a smaller choral ensemble of 25 members. Both groups are under the direction of Richard Raub.

Critics and choral adjudicators have commented on the performances of both groups: "solid sound, secure tone, with an exceptional balance," "excellent control," "impeccably trained, disciplined group."

Robert Commanday of the San Francisco Chronicle said, "Splendid work. A fine choir that does its music proud!" Martin Bernheimer of the Lost Angeles Times remarked, "This group has not only a solid grasp on musical and technical problems, but also demonstrates exceptional dramatic awareness."

In recent years Raub and the Chorale and Chamber Singers have performed for community audiences, college music departments, military installations, and churches throughout California, Oregon, Washington, and Canada. Program literature is varied, ranging from the deeply religious to spirituals, folk songs, and contemporary pieces.

On this current tour the OCC singer will give other concerts at the Basilica of the Carmel Mission, Bakersfield College, Stanislaus State University, and a special appearance at the International May Fair in Fairfield. Less formal programs will be given at the Carmelite Monastery of Carmel and Saint Mary's Cathedral in San Francisco.

Enid Palmerlee's exhibit at Sunset Center

At the invitation of Sunset Center, the Monterey Peninsula Choral Society is sponsoring a collection of collage, oil painting, watercolors, and sketches by Enid Palmerlee, a member of the Choral Society. The exhibit is on display in the Sunset Center Theatre foyer from May 6 to June 3.

After her retirement last year from teaching at Carmelo School in Carmel Valley, she has been able to pursue a lifelong hobby of painting. In the Carmel area Enid Palmerlee has studied with Nancy Johnson, Clarence Bates and Bill Stone. Prior to moving to Carmel, she studied oil painting at the University of Southern California.

In August of 1973, she traveled to Portugal with 11 other members of Nancy Johnson's painting class to spend five weeks capturing the flavor and beauty of the country with their pens and brushes. They visited Lisbon; two small fishing villages of Nazare and Esponsende; Abidos, a very small walled city; and Tomar, where the Knights Templar built their chapel and castle in 1539 under the leadership of Henry the Navigator. The exhibit consists primarily of paintings and quick sketches done during the Portugal trip.

The foyer is open before each performance in the Sunset Center Theatre. Arrangements can be made with the manager's office to view them at other times by calling 624-3996 or stopping by the office.

'Anything Goes' this weekend at NPS

"Anything Goes" will be presented at the Naval Postgraduate School this weekend. The NPS Little Theatre production of Cole Porter's hit musical "Anything Goes" reopened last Friday and will continue through Saturday May 18. The hits from this lively musical include "Anything Goes," "I Get A Kick Out of You, "Friendship" and "All Through the Night."

Tickets are still available, but they're going fast. To make reservations call 373-7715 or purchase tickets at Abinante's, Lily Walker's or Carmel Music.

Poetry Shell contest winners named

Winners of the 1974 "Poetry Shell" contest have been announced and include Donald Marsh, Richard French and Mona Patrick of Carmel Valley. Awards were made as follows:

Serious verse--first prize, Donald Marsh, Carmel Valley; second prize, Barbara Mills, Carmel; third prize, Richard S. French, Carmel Valley;

Light verse--first prize, Muriel Waite, Carmel; second prize, Phyllis Heatjer Donohue, Monterey; third prize, Mona Patrick, Carmel Valley;

Teenage verse--first prize, Mark Brunst, York School; second prize, Vyvyan Brunst, York School; third prize, Kathy Cureton, Pebble Beach;

Juvenile verse--first prize, Jennifer Trahan, Monterey; second prize, Miles Conway, Patton School, Fort Ord; third prize, Mary Politzer, Carmel.

A magazine entitled "The Poetry Shell," containing poems of prize winners and others selected by the contest committee will be available next week at bookstores throughout the Peninsula.

Art work, as well as poems, included in the magazine have been contributed by Mary Pomeroy and Beth Garcia of Carmel Valley. Other illustrations have been done by Scott Bayless of Carmel.

Judges named for high school jazz competition

Judges have been announced for the Fourth Annual California High School Jazz Band Competition, sponsored by the Monterey Jazz Festival in cooperation with Monterey Peninsula College.

They are: Frank Galiardi, drummer, director of jazz bands at University of Nevada, Las Vegas; Mundell Lowe, jazz guitarist and composer of musical scores for television and motion pictures; Larry Sutherland, trombonist and director of jazz studies at Fresno State University; Mike Vox, trumpeter and formerly with the Stan Kenton Band; John Handy, distinguished jazz saxophonist and music educator at San Francisco State University; Jack Wheaton, pianist and jazz instructor at College of the Redwoods, and John Heard, jazz bassist who has worked with many notable musicians including Cal Tjader.

The California High School Jazz Band Competition is scheduled to be held Saturday, June 8, at Monterey Peninsula College. Ten high school bands and a number of jazz ensembles will compete.

The winning high school band and jazz ensemble will be invited to perform at the Seventeenth Annual Monterey Jazz Festival set for September 20, 21, 22. They will open the Sunday afternoon Festival concert in a special appearance at 12:30 p.m.

Additionally, a special all-star band will be chosen from the state's top high school jazz instrumentalists. This all-star band will also be invited to perform at this year's Jazz Festival. It will appear as part of the regularly scheduled Sunday afternoon concert along with well-known, professional jazz artists.

The winning high school band will receive a $500 cash award. A prize of $250 will be presented to the winning jazz ensemble.

The deadline for audition tapes and application forms is May 10. For further information contact Don Schamber, High School Festival Chairman, Monterey Jazz Festival, P.O. Box JAZZ, Monterey, Ca., 93940.

Monterey Jazz Festival tickets available now

Season tickets for the five concerts of the Seventeenth Annual Monterey Jazz Festival are on sale now. They will be sold at less than box office prices for individual concert tickets, which go on sale Monday, August 5. Holders of season tickets are assured of best reserved seats for the concerts.

Festival dates this year are September 20, 21, 22. Artists who will appear at the Festival will be announced as contracts are signed, according to Jimmy Lyons, Festival general manager.

Prices per season ticket to the five concerts are: $31.25, $26.75, $24.75, $21.75.

The Monterey Jazz Festival is a non-profit, musical event with proceeds after costs going to various worthy musical activities including scholarships and other programs and projects on the Monterey Peninsula.

Season tickets are available be mail order from the Monterey Jazz Festival, PO Box Jazz, Monterey, Ca., 93940.

Emergency telephone system adopted

Carmel Valley will soon join several other communities across the nation in having a "911" emergency telephone service. According to Congressman Burt Talcott, "Monterey County will have the state's first county-wide system of the "911" service installed this year."

Using the new system, a person in an emergency need remember only one number to obtain assistance during an emergency within the county. It is anticipated that this convenience will result in the saving of lives and property.

Barbershop harmony coming to Sunset Center

The Monterey Peninsula Cypressaires are preparing for the barbershop harmony spectacular known as "My Hometown," which is to be presented June 1 at Carmel's Sunset Cultural Center.

Neil Keefer of Carmel, chorus director of the Cypressaires, is coaching Ray Cannon of Pebble Beach, Gordon Gulbranson, Vic Harper and Cyrus Fitton, all of Carmel.

The annual barbershop harmony concert is a presentation of the Cypressaires Chorus of the National Association for the Preservation of Barbershop Singing in America.

In addition to appearance of the 40-man chorus, the show will include other outstanding award-winning quartets from the West Coast. Featured will be the popular Four Bits of Harmony, Southern California's well-known comedy organization.

An added attraction will be Area's leading female barbershop harmony 'sweet Adeline' quartet, the Premieres.

Curtain time is set for 8 p.m. and admission is $3 per person. Tickets may be obtained through the Sunset Center Box Office, Carmel; Lily Walker Music, Pacific Grove, and Abinante Music Company in Monterey. Tickets are also available by mail by telephoning the Cypressaires Ticket Office, 375-4626.

Proceeds from "My Hometown" will be contributed to the Institute for Children's Speech Therapy.

IN CARMEL VALLEY VILLAGE
YOUR HOSTS: TED LEIDIG, MIKE KUCHER & COSIMO CRICCHIO

Jazz singer Len Dixon is the new feature artist at the Buckeye Restaurant in Carmel Valley.

He has performed at many well-known clubs in New York and Nevada, as well as night clubs from coast to coast. He and his group of accompanying musicians (piano, bass and drums) are the first of a series of jazz groups that will be performing at the Buckeye during the next few months.

The jazz enthusiasts in the area have a great treat in store for them. A full house every evening should be the result, so call in early for reservations.

If you haven't been to the Buckeye yet, it should be on your list to visit soon. You'll find the food excellent, prepared in new and exciting ways. Would you believe a five-inch-high pork chop stuffed with savory, homemade dressing and drenched with a mushroom and wine gravy sauce?

Then add fresh-from-the-oven dinner rolls with homemade jam, homemade soup, crisp salad or Castroville artichoke, baked potato or rice, beverage, and to top it off...homemade Strawberry Shortcake! All but the dessert is included in the complete dinners. Other entree specialties include fresh, local Brook Trout, Prime Rib, Broiled Porterhouse Steak, Stuffed Game Hen, and Fried Chicken with Biscuits and Honey.

It will take you several visits to adequately "cover" the excellent menu. By then, this imaginative group will have added new creations.

Owners Chuck and Sherry Woodson, and Ted Leidig built this exceptional entertainment and dining place three years ago. All three have had wide restaurant experience. Sherry Woodson just happens to be the daughter of restaurant owner Mark Thomas!

Cosimo Cricchio has been the manager of the Buckeye for a year and a half. His competance from years of restaurant ownership and management plus his youthful excitement and promotion awareness has made the Buckeye one of the favorite dining and entertainment places on the Peninsula.

The Buckeye Restaurant in beautiful Carmel Valley is just twelve scenic miles from Highway one. From the double wood doors at the entrance, the Buckeye spreads out and around a large, sunny patio. The rustic redwood construction, huge stone or brick fireplaces, fantastic metal sculpture and rainbow-colored table appointments create an atmosphere of comfortable, "California Country" elegance.

The several dining rooms and central bar all have wide views of the patio with its trees, masses of flowers and climbing vines. The center of the patio is highlighted by a raised, open-fire arrangement.

This is a place of charm in a beautiful country setting...created and managed by a group of highly talented, innovative young people. It has the combination (newly evolved with our younger generation) of relaxed sophistication, musical excitement, art orientated in decor, lighting and architecture, plus an excellent "home cooked" cuisine.

By LUCY SMITHSON

SUMMER IS icumen in. Loudly sing cuckoo and watch the streakers run. A couple of streakers did the last half furlong at a southern California racetrack. The horses won.

Some guy tried to streak the Coarsegold Rodeo last weekend. The cowboys chased him into a chemical toilet and kept him prisoner while they turned the portable outhouse upside down. Now that's a cure for the blahs.

On a recent balmy evening, Narragansett Park race goers cheered a streaker on horseback. "Sir Godiva" made a run down home stretch waving at the crowd. The horse, incidentally, wore a saddle. (No class.) A bareback rider ought to ride bareback.

Actually riding bareback has something for every rider--or his body. It's a grand way to learn to ride a horse, as opposed to learning to ride a saddle. Riding bareback teaches balance and a relaxed seat. Bareback riding can help a rider to understand what his horse is doing under him.

It's all right for the rider to wear clothes.

It's amazing how many riders base their knowledge of what the horse is doing upon action they observe on the part of the horse in front of the saddle. The front part of the horse is really of secondary importance. It's the hindquarters that govern motion and direction.

When a horse is going to pick up a canter, first he transfers his weight to the hindquarters. This allows him to pick up his front end and push the hind legs down in the first canter stride. The same is true at a trot or walk--the hindquarters must be placed on the ground first. When a horse makes a turn, the hindquarters go down and under first and the front portion of the body follows.

Control of the hindquarters is an important part of learning to ride, and riding bareback is a good way to learn.

It is invaluable to be able to tell which of the horse's feet is on the ground at any moment and which is about to strike. The rider can signal a horse to change gaits or start a turn at just the right time so that the next footfall can lead smoothly into the new pattern.

If a rider didn't think about it, he might think a hind foot is on the ground when the horse's hip goes down. The opposite is true: the foot is down when the hip is up. Stand up and try it on yourself by slouching this way and that. After you've learned the bareback feel of a horse's rear action, it's easier to tell from the saddle what his feet are doing.

No matter how much you love your horse, you're never as close to him as when riding bareback. "Real tight" is the way to describe it. A rider who bounces all over the saddle should try riding bareback. It'll kill or cure.

The trot, for instance, is a diagonal gait. The left hind leg and right fore work together, also the left fore and right hind. If you were to diagram this, you'd find you had drawn an X. Nobody can sit in the middle of the X, unless his body can go two ways at once. It would be like trying to hold a sailboat level off Point Joe where the cross currents meet. In a saddle, a rider could hang on for dear life or else stand up in the stirrups and by leaning forward let all the action hang out behind.

THE BAREBACK rider puts his bottom a little behind the X and rides the horse's hip action with his own hip action. He sits up straight and puts his shoulders back and this puts him in line with the horse's center of gravity. Now the two of them have really got it all together.

The canter is a rolling gait in which one side, right or left, leads the other side. A bareback rider doesn't have to crawl over the horse's shoulder to see which he's on. In fact, he can't because he has no stirrups to stand up in, no saddle to hang on to while he throws the horse off balance trying to find out which balance the horse is on.

The bareback rider, instead, learns to feel which lead his horse is on by recognizing which of his own knees is more active and which of his hips is in front of the other. An accomplished bareback rider would never call for a right hand rollback off a left lead. He's got a feel for what the horse is doing at the moment, what he can do, and what he is going to do next.

The basic position for the bareback rider is the same as a good equitation position in the saddle. Regardless of what Sunday cowboys might advise, the basic riding position is pretty much the same, English or Western style: head up, shoulders back, back straight, and buttocks tucked a little under to put the pelvic bones squarely on the horse. Don't let the seat bones push the part of the rider's body just in front of them out of contact with the horse. To put that a little more elegantly, ride off the inside of the thighs, not their backs. The rider does not ride just by the seat of his pants alone, but with grip in the thighs and slightly in the knees.

The lower leg relaxes about three inches away from the horse's barrel but the toes point slightly up, not down. If your toes point out, the thigh will be rolled out, too. Keep the toes pointed straight ahead.

A common mistake, seen frequently among kids who are turned loose with no saddle and no coaching, is riding with the lower legs clamped onto the horse's barrel.

To a trained horse that means "Go!" So the bareback novice pulls on the reins to keep the horse at a slow pace. Pulling on the reins also helps the novice stay on since he doesn't have proper thigh grip or a correct seat to maintain his position in the saddle. That lower leg grip acts as the fulcrum of a lever, and the rider's body must, therefore, swing. As he begins to jiggle in the saddle, the rider pulls harder on the reins to secure his seat, and he may even draw his legs back and dig in with the heels.

Pretty soon that horse won't respond to leg pressure at all, and his head will be up in the air. He'll eventually build up enough muscle below his neck to brace himself against a loose rider. He may never outgrow the stilted gaits and stiff movements he has had to adopt to stay under a bobbing rider.

The secret to bareback riding is balance. The bareback rider is constantly aware of his own and, therefore, his horse's equilibrium. Without artificial aids with which to maintain his seat, the bareback rider has to stay in the middle of his horse.

There's an additional benefit to all this. As the bareback rider discovers he can actually stay in the saddle on his own, he can finally relax. Some saddle-ites never stop worrying about staying aboard. The accomplished bareback rider can just hang loose and show the world.

He's ready for bareback streaking.

"WHAT KIND of a bareback rider was that?"

Benefit substantially from a gift of appreciated assets to Pomona College.
The benefits are many:
• Receive a charitable deduction from your taxable income
• Reduce estate and inheritance taxes
• Be free of tax on all or part of the capital gains
• Increase your spendable income
• Establish a lasting memorial in your name
• Earn income for life for you, your spouse, or any survivor you name
• Take a constructive step in your estate planning
The Pomona Plan includes five different methods by which your gifts can be made. Each offers some of the encouragements of private philanthropy provided under Federal and State tax laws. Select the program which best suits your needs. Details are described in our publication, "Pomona College—Annuity and Life Income Plans." Write for a free copy. Or call (714) 626-8511, Ext. 3187.
